

Humphrey Backers Organize

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sure that their man will declare soon for the Democratic presidential nomination, backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have organized United Democrats for Humphrey with former President Harry S. Truman as honorary chairman.

A score of public figures, including two senators and five members of the House, were named Thursday as sponsors. But the only two governors on the list later denied they had authorized use of their names.

They were Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota and Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Humphrey, expected to jump into the race soon after Easter, said in Baton Rouge, La., Thursday night he stands on the record of the present administration and is "not going to retreat from it one bit."

"I do not intend to disavow either President Johnson or the Johnson-Humphrey administration," he said to the Louisiana AFL-CIO.

"I intend to stand up for the promises we have kept. I intend to take our message to the country—an affirmative, positive, hopeful message."

Besides Truman, founders of United Democrats for Humphrey include Sens. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, Mayors Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta and A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman; assistant House majority leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and four other House members.

Elsewhere on the political scene, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said he is still available if the party wants him. And Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, of California was showing signs of increased political activity.

Reagan aides said the governor who announced earlier this year he was all but cutting out national speeches, is scheduling several at which he will discuss "problems facing the country."

Rockefeller was asked at a news conference in New York if, in view of his March 21 statement that he would not seek the nomination, he still wants to be president.

"If the party wants me," he replied, "the answer is yes."

In Washington, Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said a Rockefeller booster group was setting out to round up convention delegates in favor of Rockefeller to convince him he's wanted.

"We'll do it in four weeks," Morton said. "We'll have more delegates lined up in four weeks than a mile can haul."

The new Rockefeller for President Committee will be headed by J. Irwin Miller, of Columbus, Ind., chairman of the Cummins Engine Co.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, stalking the Democratic nomination, advocated a guaranteed minimum income in a speech at Boston University.

Kind Words for Handling of Race Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Marion H. Crank of Foreman, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, had kind words Thursday for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's handling of race problems but was not as complimentary when discussing the state's fiscal problems.

Crank said he felt that Arkansas was in a better position than most states to avoid violence because there was "less ghetto-type living, which creates these problems."

"I think we can say that he has been genuinely interested in race relations," Crank said in a television show taping for showing Sunday on KARK-TV.

Crank said that young persons were primarily concerned with fiscal competence and that "if this administration has made one mistake, that's the biggest."

He said there had been a $100,000 a month in the state Welfare Department budget and that the agency had not planned for a cushion in the Public School Fund at the end of the biennium "until school officials mentioned the necessity of the cushion."

Crank said he had not created the fiscal problems and would not offer solutions to them at the upcoming special session.

Crank also said he believed he could attract the young voters.

"Although I am experienced, I'm young in ideas, I have an open mind," Crank said. "I like the challenge of new ideas, new thoughts."

Says Open Bars Easier to Police

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police Chief R. E. Brians said Thursday that he was not in favor of open bars but that it was "easier to police open bars, than private clubs."

Brians made the statement in a question and answer session following a speech to the Pulaski County Bar Association.

"The private club concept has not worked," Brians said. "It has created many more problems than it has solved."

Folks Back Home Let Congressmen Know Just How They Feel

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has vacated Capitol Hill for the Easter recess, a work break members say will let them test feelings back home on racial turmoil, federal money problems and Vietnam.

It's not unusual for Congress members to justify vacations on the ground they're necessary to take the pulse of the country, but this time the explanation has more than usual to back it. Since the lawmakers came back from their last recess in February, the country has been shaken by a succession of events bearing directly on legislative problems that must be tackled after sessions resume April 22.

There was the international gold crisis, contained but perhaps not solved by the Central Banks' agreement on a two-price gold market.

President Johnson dropped a bomb into politically sluggish waters by announcing he would not seek re-election.

Hanoi, however guardedly, signaled willingness to talk about having peace talks. Bombing of North Vietnam was limited.

An assassin slew Martin Luther King, the great symbol of nonviolence among militant civil rights leaders, and many cities exploded with slum violence.

Even before its Thursday recess Congress had begun to react. The House passed by a surprising margin the Senate version of a civil rights bill with a tough open-housing provision.

Some tough appeared, on both sides, in the long-frozen deadlock between the executive and legislative branches over an income tax increase although a final decision has yet to be made.

This session of Congress has enacted little major legislation aside from the Civil Rights Act and it has its work cut out for it before the November election.

Johnson has apparently given a bit on the issue of budget reductions, which congressional leaders are demanding as the price of a tax increase. The House taxing and spending committees have stepped up slightly the glacial pace of their efforts to work out an acceptable package.

But much work lies ahead, and the events of the past few weeks have not made it easier.

Towns Merge After Some 55 Years

EARLE, Ark. (AP) — It took them 55 years to do it, but the residents of Earle and the neighboring town of Norvell finally are ready to decide whether to consolidate.

The Crittenden County Court has set May 16 as the date for a referendum on a proposal by Earle (pop. 3,000) to annex Norvell (pop. 200). Residents in both cities, which share a common boundary, will vote in the referendum.

The Earle town board first discussed the annexation in 1913 but the proposal was shelved and never acted upon until earlier this week.

Mistreatment in Past, Says Prison Head

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — State Prison Supt. Victor Urban said Thursday the mistreatment of inmates that former Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton talked about did take place but added that the mistreatment was in the past.

"I prefer to talk of the past year and the future," said Urban, who took over for Murton March 7. "Arkansas has been given a black eye. I will do my best to present Arkansas as it should be presented in the area of penal reforms."

Urban said the prison sorely needed more facilities for the inmates and a maximum security area.

"I wish every one of you would come and see the human cages in which 150 to 200 men are caged in areas built for 100," he told a Crossett civic club. "This nurtures brutality and exploitation of one prisoner on another."

Urban said that six of the eight inmates who escaped from Cummins Prison Farm soon after he took over belong in a maximum security area.

"If you took down the towers you could hardly tell you were at a prison," Urban said. "Any one can simply walk off as it is now. Such things as a little fence should be put up as a hint that would like to keep there."

Urban said he intended to bring about needed reforms but added funds would be necessary.

"To have a progressive program we must have funds above what can be earned on the prison," he said. "If we can get our share of the funds, not all, but a number of released, can be returned to society as constructive citizens."

Fair Weather Helps Work on Highways

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fair weather has enabled contractors to step up work on Interstate 40 in eastern Arkansas, and it now appears that the entire Little Rock to Memphis leg of the freeway will be open by this fall.

Snow and heavy rain in February and March caused troublesome delays on the three projects still under construction in the area.

John Pendergrass, chief engineer for the Highway Department, said a nine-mile segment between Hazen and Bisbee will open June 1.

This will leave a 13 1/2-mile segment from Bisbee to Brinkley and an 18-mile segment from Highway 39 east of Forrest City to Shearerville still under construction.

Grading and installation of drainage and overpass structures is complete on all three segments. Paving contracts have been let, and work has started.

Pendergrass said that temporary signs will be erected, if necessary, so that the roads can be opened as soon as the pavement is ready.

Open Housing Bill Signed Into a Law

By STEPHEN M. AUG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, voicing outrage at the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King and the violence that followed it, has signed an historic open-housing bill as a federal task force girded to enforce the new law.

It is the third landmark civil rights bill to become law since Johnson entered the White House.

"All America is outraged at the assassination" of King, the President told a crowd of civil rights leaders, Congress members and government leaders in the East Room of the White House Thursday. "And America is also outraged at the looting and burning that defiles our democracy."

"We just must put our shoulders together and put a stop to both," he said of the violence that takes the lives of men like King and of the slum riots.

The signing came one week after King's death in Memphis, Tenn. The President recalled that King was among the civil rights leaders who met with him two years ago to lay the groundwork for an open-housing bill.

Mrs. King was invited to attend the ceremony but could not arrange to be in Washington, White House aides said.

The new law will prohibit discrimination in 80 per cent of all housing sales and rentals by 1970, but much of it takes effect next Jan. 1.

The law also makes it a federal crime to use threats or violence to interfere with anyone seeking to exercise his civil rights and prohibits the crossing of state lines with intent to incite rioting.

The measure follows up the 1964 Civil Rights Act which Congress sent to Johnson eight months after the death of President John F. Kennedy, another assassination victim. That measure opened up all public accommodations to Negroes and strengthened their voting rights. In 1966 Johnson signed the Voting Rights Bill which outlawed literacy tests as a requirement for voting.

As Johnson was signing the new bill Thursday in a ceremony nationally telecast and broadcast, the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division was assigning a newly formed task force to assemble the government's enforcement program.

The task force will operate under Stephen J. Pollak, assistant attorney general for civil rights.

It will search for violations and may refer some cases to the FBI for further investigation, Pollak said in an interview.

The act is not expected to substantially break up large urban Negro slums immediately but should benefit middle-class Negroes who can afford to buy or rent better homes but who have been excluded on racial grounds.

Pollak said some large housing developers have refused to sell or rent to Negroes on grounds that white residents would move or refuse to buy. Pollak said the new law leaves the developers no such reason to discriminate.

The bill provides for conciliation through the Department of Housing and Urban Development on questions of housing discrimination. If conciliation fails to solve the issue HUD may file court suits or individuals may file their own suits in federal court.

The new law requires individuals to work first through the framework of state or local open-housing laws when these laws are substantially equivalent to the federal law. This is the case in 11 of the 23 states with such laws.

Tet Offensive Robbed Many of Security

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Communist Tet offensive robbed a million South Vietnamese of security, official U.S. statistics showed today. Millions of others are living in areas with less security than before.

The figures, compiled by computer with information from South Vietnam's cities and 12,736 hamlets, also showed that the Viet Cong brought 326,000 more people under total control.

Hundreds of thousands of persons who formerly lived in secure areas now live in areas classed as "contested."

The statistics are those of the U.S. Embassy's Hamlet Evaluation System—HES—which has been providing computer analyses of security in South Vietnam since last December.

The HES analysis showed 61 per cent of South Vietnam's 17.2 million people living in secure areas on March 31. This compares with 67.2 per cent immediately before the Tet offensive, a drop of 6.2 per cent and the lowest in more than a year.

The population living in contested areas grew from 16.3 per cent to 20.7. Now under Viet Cong control are 18.3 per cent of the population compared with 16.4 per cent before Tet.

This means that 1,093,000 persons who formerly lived in secure areas are now in contested or Viet Cong areas. The number of people in secure areas dropped from 11.5 million to 10.4 million. The number of people in Viet Cong-controlled areas jumped from 2.8 million pre-Tet to 3.1 million March 31.

There were 5,331 secure hamlets before Tet and 4,559 at the end of March. The number of contested hamlets went from 3,593 to 4,084. Viet Cong control expanded from 3,838 hamlets to a total of 4,093.

wave of disorders following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. seemed to vary from city to city.

Thus Chicago reported many businesses damaged were owned by Negroes although no breakdown was available. In Pittsburgh it appeared that mostly white-owned firms were firebombed and looted while many Negro-owned shops and bars with "soul brother" signs went untouched.

No overall figure on total damage was available but the American Insurance Association and the General Adjustment Bureau said Thursday that insured losses could cost insurance companies $45 million or more.

The figure was "up to date as of Wednesday" and was "conservatively estimated," they said. The bureau said payout figures were "revised as new incidents took place and as a more exact evaluation of earlier incidents became possible."

Total damage can be expected to run well above insured losses, in Chicago the federal Small Business Administration estimated $7 million to $10 million in damage with more than half uninsured.

Insurance policies of many merchants were canceled following the 1966 disturbances on the West Side. Also, many properties destroyed were uninsurable because of building code violations.

Some Chicago merchants said immediately after the rioting that they had been wiped out financially and did not plan to resume business but no statistics were yet available.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Inflammation of Nerve A Cause of Bell's Palsy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The most frequent type of paralysis of the facial nerve is Bell's palsy. It affects only one side of the face and is caused by an inflammation of the nerve. This in turn may be caused by exposure to cold, a tumor or an infection, usually with a virus. Recent reports indicate that it is sometimes caused by airplane travel in persons with a blockage of the Eustachian tube leading from the middle ear to the throat. This type of Bell's palsy always clears up spontaneously. In older persons the disease may be associated with diabetes or hardening of the arteries.

The onset is usually sudden and the victim is unable to close his eyelids completely or wrinkle his brow on the affected side or to whistle. It is important to remember that Bell's palsy is not the result of a stroke—a frequent source of worry. Patients with stroke involving the facial muscles can't whistle but they can wrinkle their brows and close their eyelids.

About 75 per cent of all cases recover without treatment within a few weeks. Unfortunately, there is no easy way to identify the 25 per cent who will need treatment. When tests of function made three days after the onset show that the facial paralysis is incomplete, recovery is the rule. But it is also true that 50 per cent of those whose paralysis is complete will recover as well. Tests of the electrical conduction through the affected nerve early in the course of the disease help to determine which victims need treatment.

Some doctors have had good results with the anti-inflammatory drug, ACTH, started on the first day of the disease. Others prefer blocking the sympathetic nerves in the neck on the affected side. While waiting for return of function in the facial nerve heat, massage and electrical stimulation are beneficial. Another treatment that has given excellent results in selected cases is a surgical widening of the bony channel through which the inflamed nerve passes. This relieves pressure on the nerve which, if allowed to continue, leads to permanent degeneration of the nerve. Full recovery following this operation occurs in two to eight weeks.

While we are far from agreement with a good deal of the material in "Bid Boldly, Play Safe," there is an excellent chapter on safety plays. We would expect this. Mrs. Marcus writes about rubber bridge, and in rubber bridge you work to make your contract.

Today's hand was played by Albert Rose, one of England's top players. Most players would have looked over dummy happily and noted that the contract would come home if either the club finesse or heart finesse would work. They would win the spade lead in dummy and promptly lose the club finesse. Later on they would lose the heart finesse also and complain about misfortune.

Mr. Rose looked over dummy carefully and saw that he could make the hand with both finesses wrong provided diamonds broke 4-3. He could try this first and reserve finesses for later if diamonds don't break that well.

He won the first spade in dummy and promptly discarded two hearts on the ace and king of diamonds. If West had ruffed the second diamond, Rose would have been in trouble but he was willing to chance a 6-1 diamond break. Then he ruffed a third diamond with the nine of clubs. When both opponents followed to this, he did not need to worry any more about finesses. He led a low club to dummy.

West went up with his queen. Had he not done so he would have lost it. Then West led another spade. Albert won in his own hand, entered dummy with the jack of clubs, ruffed a diamond high, drew trumps, entered dummy with the last high spade and discarded his queen of hearts on a good diamond.

An interesting and good line of play, but not such a sure thing as it appears. We will change the East-West hands a trifle tomorrow and show how this play might lose while the two-finesse play would win.

LOVE ME, LOVE MY BROTH-ER

Dear Helen: When I got married two years ago, I thought I was getting one husband. But the next day my brother-in-law moved in and he's been here ever since. He was injured in the War and lives on a pension; he won't leave.

He doesn't work, doesn't go out. All day long he's my constant shadow. He tells me how to cook, how to clean house, even how to treat his brother. If I start talking to him in the morning, I can't get rid of him the rest of the day.

We are all in our 50s. The men were bachelors, and I was a widow. I'm beginning to think they brought me in because they needed a housekeeper. My husband shows me no affection, never takes me anywhere; his brother nags and bosses me. I don't get any extra dividends—like money.

On the good side, they don't drink, smoke or swear and provide nice enough home. But mostly they are just yitch. And two is too much!

Should I pack up my bags and become a grass widow?—W.T.N.
Dear W: That's your decision, and I think you've already made it. But remember, the grass is always greener until you get there.—H

Dear Helen: You are obviously such a nice person I hate to criticize you. However, may I point out that the frequent use of "like" as a conjunction—"Sounds like both sides have been lax..." sets a bad example for our readers? It is as easy to say "as" or "as if" and be grammatically correct, even though cigarette ads don't.—PhD.

Dear PhD: I hate to disagree with such an obviously nice critic, but—like I don't dig you, man.

I'm of the Rudolph Flesch school that contends you should write it as you say it, let grammarians fuss where they may. If "like" sounds less stilted than "as if," then "like" gets my nod. My contractions, fragmented sentences and slang might chill a high school English teacher—in fact they often do—but then I'm not a purveyor of the King's English. I just talk to people—in our own common language... And I don't get for rigid rules.—H

PERSONAL TO "WANTS A GOOD FAST PUT-DOWN FOR

A CHEATER?—Tell him, "I see through you like a window, and to me you're just one big pain (pane)."

NOTE TO PhD: Try substituting "as if" in THAT one!—H

Dear Helen: What's with the word "hang"? You used to hang around with a hangdog look because of a hangover, but now everybody's "hung up" unless they've learned to "hang loose."—STUDENT OF POPULAR WORDS

Dear SPW: Not quite: You can "hang in there," "hang a Rose" (right), or "hang a Louie" (left) around a corner; "hang ten"; hang down, tight, off or untill dead. You may even have a hangnail.

Funny how popular words and phrases come and go. A few years back, we all started our sentences with "This," and we rolled "r-r-right" off our tongues before we added, "I kid you not."

Nowadays we're "hung" on "hang," "generation gap," "communication," "The Establishment," "It's my thing (or bag)," and "trip."

One thing I'll say for the new generation, its popular phrases have more significance. R-r-right?—H

Kindergarten Cookbook Is a Real Dilly

SEATTLE (AP) — The directions in the cookbook are simple and to the point: "If it's black it's done... add one pound cinnamon, two pounds of salt... if you hear them burning, turn off the stove."

The cookbook was compiled by Miss Jean Hobart's kindergarten class at the Campbell Hill Elementary School. The cookbook was a natural outgrowth of a discussion of measuring, which led to the necessity of measuring in cooking, which led to talk of favorite foods and recipes.

Miss Hobart edited "The Kindergarten Cookbook," but pointed out in a covering letter to parents, "The recipes in the book were written exactly as dictated by the authors."

To make "David's Hamburgers"—"First you take a handful of hamburger and flatten it and put it in the oven on a pan with foil on it and cook it for a long while. Take it out and look at it. If it's black it's done. Take it out of the oven and put it on bread. Put cheese, lettuce, onions, tomato, mayonnaise, ketchup, mustard, pickle and relish on it. That's all. Then you eat it."

"Tricia's Coconut Cookies" should "cook" for an hour or longer if necessary "and if you hear them burning you turn off the stove."

Cards Pound Atlanta for Second Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals have begun and it's only April.

The happy-go-lucky Cardinals, defending world champions, were chanting "a hundred more to go," after their second straight victory Thursday night had left them comfortably perched at the top of the National League.

A hundred more victories would give the Cards 102 for the season—one more than it took them to capture the pennant last year.

The Redbirds were understandably chipper Thursday night after an 18-hit attack led by Orlando Cepeda, Tim Lincecum, Curt Flood and Mike Shannon had pounded Atlanta 10-3.

In other National League games, rookie Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter for his first major league victory as New York blanked Los Angeles 4-0. Pittsburgh pushed across two runs in the 15th inning to nip San Francisco 3-1. Houston dropped Philadelphia 7-3 and Chicago bumped Cincinnati 10-3.

In the American League only three games were scheduled with California dropping Cleveland 7-5, Detroit edging Boston 4-3 and Minnesota shading Washington 5-4.

Cepeda, who led the "hundred to go" chant, drove in four Cardinal runs with a homer, single and his first triple in four years. Twice his clutch hits came with two-strike counts on him.

McCarver had four hits, and Shannon and Flood three each as St. Louis battered three Atlanta pitchers. Deron Johnson accounted for all three Braves' runs with an eighth-inning homer.

The Dodgers suffered their second straight shutout, this time at the hands of the Mets. Koosman, a rookie left-hander, was in complete control and got all the offensive help he needed from Art Shamsky who drove in the first two runs of the game with a bases-loaded single in the sixth inning.

Dodger outfielder Al Ferrara suffered a fracture and dislocation of his left ankle when he fell down chasing Tommie Agee's eighth-inning drive. Ferrara was carried off the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for X rays. He is expected to be sidelined for three months.

Norm Miller and Rusty Staub drove in two runs apiece as the Astros won their second straight, beating Larry Jackson, an old nemesis.

Jackson, who had beaten Houston 17 times, lasted only three innings. Don Wilson, backed by a 14-hit Astro attack, went the distance against the Phillies on a seven-hitter.

Murphy wills drove in Pittsburgh's winning runs in the 15th inning against the Giants. Nate Oliver's error, a sacrifice, an intentional walk and a hit batsman loaded the bases and set up Will's winning hit.

Billy Williams rapped a pair of home runs leading a five-homer Chicago barrage that carried the Cubs past Cincinnati. The two homers gave Williams 200 for his career.

Ferguson Jenkins, who slammed one of the Cub homers, breezed to the victory.

Defense in Hog Training Spotlight

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The defense overshadowed the offense, though not unexpectedly, as the University of Arkansas Razorbacks went through a 90-minute scrimmage Thursday.

"The defensive tackling in the secondary, their support against the running game, and their tackling on passes was the most impressive of all," said coach Frank Broyles. "The defense will always predominate in the early going."

The offense, which would take over the ball on its own 20, scored one touchdown, that one with sophomore quarterback Bill Montgomery of Carrollton, Tex., directing the attack.

Montgomery, known for his passing ability, picked up key yardage on keepers twice. The big man in the drive was Bill Burnett, a sophomore, who carried five times for 34 of the final 42 yards. He scored the touchdown from three yards out.

"I thought Burnett ran well," said Broyles. "I thought Bruce Maxwell caught the ball well, and Mike Sigman did a good job overall offensively. The aggressiveness was encouraging," Broyles said. "That's the main thing."

'Pleasure' Win Wouldn't Be Good News

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
News of a victory by What A Pleasure in Saturday's Gotham at Aqueduct wouldn't exactly be considered pleasant tidings at Churchill Downs, home of the Kentucky Derby.

The Wheatley Stable 3-year-old was not nominated for the Kentucky Derby, the one Triple Crown race which does not accept supplementary nominations.

Derby or no Derby, What A Pleasure is expected to be one of the favorites for the one-mile, $50,000-added Gotham, a stepping stone to the Wood Memorial which, in turn, is a major Derby test.

What A Pleasure, who posted four victories including the Sapling and Hopeful as a juvenile, won his debut as a 3-year-old by winning a seven-furlong allowance test at Aqueduct April 6.

It was the only second start and the first victory at more than 6 1/2 furlongs for the Bold Ruler colt. The question of his ability to go a distance of ground is one reason for his not being nominated for the Derby.

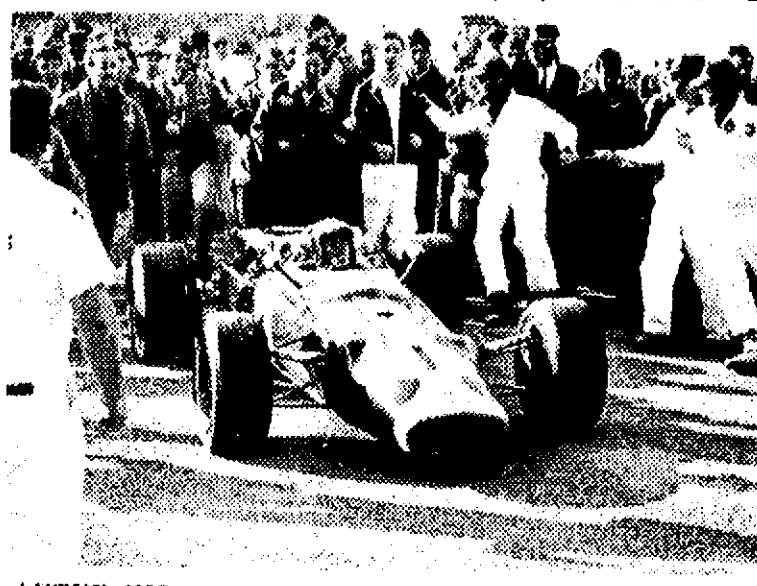

Anywhere from eight to 11 are expected to oppose What A Pleasure in the Gotham. Likely starters include Derby eligibles Wise Exchange, Conceded, Bugged, Au Secours, Call Me Prince and Wellpoised. Others are Hand to Hand and Eastern Affair.

Other Derby nominees are among the probable starters in two other races Saturday. Harbor View Farm's American Native is expected to be the only 3-year-old in the 6 1/2-furlong $30,000-added Inaugural Handicap at Sportsman's Park's opening, and Fiddle Isle and Page are among a likely field of 10 for the six-furlong, $25,000-added Delmar Stakes for 3-year-olds and up over 1 1/2 miles at Gulfstream Park.

Fourteen have been entered for the $50,000-added Pan American Turf Handicap for 3-year-olds and up over 1 1/2 miles at Gulfstream Park.

Fear Rode With Jim Clark

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Automotive Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—"Every driver," Jimmy Clark once wrote, "realizes that racing is a dangerous sport, but I believe that to a certain extent it need only be as dangerous as a driver wants it to be."

"People have often said to me that they cannot believe that I can be frightened on the track. But, in a way, fear is a big part of racing because if there was nothing to be frightened of, and no limit, any fool could get into a motor car and racing would not exist as a sport."

Jim Clark was no fool. He was, in fact, probably the greatest racing driver the sport has ever known. And he, in the curiously mocking jargon of his profession, "bought the farm" in a Lotus, the car that brought him his fame. The circuit was in Hockenheim, Germany, but it could have been anywhere.

Greer Drives Cash in for Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Philadelphia left the driving to Hal Greer and in return Greer put the 76ers in the driver's seat in their National Basketball Association playoffs with Boston.

Greer popped in 21 points in the fourth quarter and steered the host 76ers by the Celtics 122-114 Thursday night, putting Philadelphia up 2-1 in the Eastern Division finals.

The Celtics were moving along right well themselves for a time, making up a 77-67 deficit to go ahead 93-91, but by then defensive ace Bill Russell, Bailey Howell and Satch Sanders each had five fouls with 10:18 left.

"That was the key to the game," Greer said. "With Russell out of there it opened everything up. I just drove the middle and those little jumpers were wide open."

After two games in two nights, the best-of-7 series resumes Sunday in Boston.

While the defending NBA champion 76ers, who lost the first game in Philadelphia, won their second straight, Los Angeles took an almost insurmountable 3-0 lead with a 128-124 triumph over San Francisco.

In the only American Basketball Association game, Jesse Branson came off the bench in the second and fourth quarters and led New Orleans to a commanding 3-1 playoff lead with a 119-103 victory over Dallas in New Orleans.

Jerry West put the Los Angeles on the threshold of winning its best-of-7 Western Division final series by scoring 40 points, including six of the Lakers' last eight points. The teams play in Oakland Saturday night.

New Orleans can wrap up its best-of-7 Western Division final set Saturday night at home, after Branson's heroics.

Branson hit the first eight points of the second period and had eight more before the half as the Buccaneers took the lead for good. He came back in the fourth period with 10 more points to insure the victory.

Nicklaus' Drives Are Unbelievable

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Avid galleries and less-powerful rivalries at the Masters have always thought Jack Nicklaus' booming drives were unbelievable.

Big Jack himself says he can't believe some of them, either. "I hit two of them more than quiet Scot compiled a driving record which should remain unrivaled for many years. Although he was willing to drive almost anything with four wheels (Sunbeams, Jaguars, Porsches, Triumphs, Lotuses, Aston-Martins, and Ford Fairlanes) his preference was Grand Prix machines in which the risks were the greatest.

I saw Clark drive at Sebring, Monaco, Brands Hatch, Indianapolis, Watkins Glen and, most recently, in a stock car race at Rockingham, N.C. At Rockingham, I had the opportunity to talk with him at length and, perhaps, to know him better.

Jimmy wasn't an easy man to know. Always polite, ready to answer almost any question tossed at him by a newspaperman, he nevertheless often lapsed into long periods of silence during which the thoughtful reporter refrained from quizzing him.

He was a serious, articulate man who was aware of his capabilities... and his limits. In his autobiography, "Jim Clark at the Wheel," he wrote: "The supreme attraction of motor racing to me is driving a car as near the physical limit as possible without stepping over it. I have always

Athletics in Grip of Race Issue

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Rene Herreras, who quit as basketball coach at the University of California Thursday, says, "The Negro situation was a factor but not the sole factor."

Although plagued by racial friction during his eighth season as coach, Herreras, 42, said only a few days ago he would serve out his contract, which had a year to go.

Herreras suspended Negro center Bob Presley in January for training rule infractions, but quickly reinstated him.

White players asserted that the university administration forced the reinstatement, but Herreras denied it.

A 40-member campus group, the Black Athletes Union, then demanded that Herreras, two football aides and a business manager be fired. The Negroes also sought economic, social and housing equality, threatening to boycott all California athletics to back their demands.

An investigative committee named by Chancellor Roger W. Heyns recommended efforts to improve racial relations and to add to coaching, administrative and training staffs from minority groups.

The black athletes said they would hold off their boycott until they saw whether the recommendations were followed.

Herreras, whose resignation is effective July 1, said his sudden move was "for the best interests of my family and myself."

300 yards—one uphill," Nicklaus said after an opening 69 Thursday on the dim, Augusta National Course where the balls didn't roll.

"I couldn't believe I was driving the ball that far," Big Jack said. "On the 17th green I walked 100 paces up hill to get to the ball, which has got to be over 300 yards."

"And on the 13th I only had 115 yards to go after my drive," The 13th is 120 yards long, which means Nicklaus binged his tee shot 305 yards.

Nicklaus has always been one of pro golf's longest drivers, but he has had trouble keeping the ball in the fairways this spring. "But I'm driving the ball well now," said the three-time Masters champion as he went into the second round only a shot off the lead.

recognized and respected the safety limits for myself and for other drivers, and I would far rather lose a race any day than overstep myself or my car."

So he was also a careful man who disciplined himself to leave very little to chance. But he recognized the grave possibilities of chance. He once told me that his deep concern was the unknown, or a mechanical failure. "They do happen, you know, and they are the real risks."

"But please don't misunderstand. I have the greatest confidence in Colin Chapman and his cars. He doesn't want any one hurt in his cars. Yet I really can't help being a little insecure about the car being prepared for me. Maybe that's why I've always fussed with them."

Unlike some of his contemporaries, Clark's interest in racing was almost exclusively as a driver. He was never especially interested in campaigning his own racing team or building his own cars as have Jack Brabham, Bruce McLaren and Dan Gurney.

"Why should I make all that trouble for myself?" he explained. "I have enough to do in the cockpit. Besides, I also enjoy it. I don't want to be a bookkeeper or a businessman." Of course, in the cockpit he was better than any body.

Driver Clark established a number of noteworthy precedents. It was he who in 1965 proved to Americans that a foreign driver in a rear-engine formula car could win the Indianapolis 500, this country's most important race.

Before his triumph, front-engine Offenhauseners were the kings of the brickyard. After 1965, lightweight, rear-engine formula cars ruled, certainly a milestone in racing history.

This year Jimmy was to drive a Chapman-designed turbine car at Indy. All things being equal (though they seldom are in racing) he should have won. Jimmy would have liked that. Not for the victory in itself, not really, but for the fact that another precedent would have been established.

I had dinner with him last October in the airport restaurant at Charlotte, N.C. He had, that afternoon, been introduced to stock car racing on the Rockingham oval and, although he didn't win, was pleased with his performance.

"Wrestling that big car around the track was tougher than I thought it would be," he confessed. I asked him if he'd like to give it another try.

"Why, sure," he said. "I've got the hang of it now." I never saw him again.

Killbrew Bats Twins to Victory

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Merritt was having trouble with his pivot and suddenly Minnesota Twins were in trouble. But there was nothing wrong with Harmon Killbrew's swing and suddenly the Twins were out of trouble.

Killbrew's second homer in as many days snapped a tie and gave the Twins a 5-4 victory over Washington Thursday night after a shaky start by Merritt allowed the Senators four runs in the first inning.

Minnesota pitching coach Early Wynn deflected a hitch in the young left-hander's pivot when delivering the ball and quickly got him to correct the flaw. After that, Merritt allowed just two hits and waited for the Twins' hitters to catch up.

In the only other American League games Thursday, Detroit edged Boston 4-3 and California topped Cleveland 7-5.

In the National League, Pittsburgh outlasted San Francisco 3-1 in 15 innings, Chicago crushed Cincinnati 10-3, Houston downed Philadelphia 7-3, St. Louis smacked Atlanta 10-3 and New York shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

The Twins started catching up to the Senators in the third inning when Ken McMullen's two-out throwing error opened the gates to three runs.

In the fifth, Frank Howard muffed a fly ball by Rod Carew for a two-base error and Carew eventually scored the tying run on a wild pitch. Then Killbrew sent one 381 feet into the left field bullpen in left center.

The Tigers beat the Red Sox on Gates Brown's pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning. Dick McAuliffe homered for Detroit in the first inning and Bill Freehan hit one out in the second, staking the Tigers to a 3-0 lead.

But in the sixth, Joe Lahoud, the rookie who is taking Tony Congiario's place in right field, and Rico Petrocelli tied the score at 3-3 with successive homers off Denny McLain and that's the way things stayed until Brown hit his homer.

Chuck Hinton's homer in the seventh tied the Angels with the Indians and Bob Rodgers followed with a single that drove in Roger Repoz with the winning run.

Casper Is Leading the Masters

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Billy Casper, golf's quiet man, suddenly turned showman en route to the first round lead in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Casper—for years a rather sombre figure—capered and cavorted over the windy, rolling acres of the Augusta National Golf Course Thursday on the way to a four-under-par 68.

That gave him a one-stroke lead over an international quintet including pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus, British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, tough young Tony Jacklin of England, Australian Bruce Devlin and four regular Tommy Aaron.

Tied at 70 were Bob Goaly, Kermit Zarley and Jerry Pittman. PGA champion Don January and Hideyo Sugimoto, six-time Japanese open champion, and amateur Vinnie Giles were in a group of seven at 71 while defending champion Gary Brewer, Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player were among the seven tied at par 72.

"I just feel good," Casper said. "I've felt good all week. And after a round like that I feel even better."

He reeled off six birdies, including three on the last five holes and dropped in putts up to a monster of 55 feet.

His actions on the course were in marked contrast to the placid, plodding picture he has presented in recent years.

He joked with the crowd, waved to the gallery, did a little dance step after a good putt, put body english on his shots and registered disapproval with grimaces and groans.

Casper, acknowledged as one of the world's finest players, always before has had his troubles in this particular tournament.

"But now," he said in a serious vein, "now I have an inner peace that permits me to do everything in my life better."

He is a recent convert to the Mormon religion.

Bill, while aping Palmer's facial expressions on the course, was dressed a la Doug Sanders—all in gold.

Asked if there was any significance in that particular color in this rich tournament, Casper laughed and replied:

"No, none at all. It's not the gold. I'm shooting for the green come Sunday," he said, referring to the green jacket given to Masters champions.

The final two rounds will be televised nationally by CBS-TV, 5-6 p.m., EST Saturday and 4-5:30 p.m., EST Sunday.

They Just Use Those Skates Better

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Montreal Canadiens don't have sharper skates than any other National Hockey League team. They just use them better.

"We got a team effort and we outskated them," Coach Toe Blake said after the Canadiens edged Boston 3-2 Thursday night to sweep their East Division Stanley Cup semifinal series in four straight games. "Very few of our guys were not skating."

Montreal's next opponent will be the winner of the New York-Chicago series. The Black Hawks fired five goals in the third period to beat the Rangers 7-4 and cut New York's lead to 2-1.

In West Division semifinal action, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 5-2 to take a commanding 3-1 lead and Minnesota nipped Los Angeles 3-2.

A Closer Walk With God

Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

It is now three days after that terrible Dark Friday when God said unto them, "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day; and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached among all nations." The weighty stones are being rolled away from the grave doors and the Spirit is becoming triumphant over death. The Old Rugged Cross and Christ's tomb are both being snatched, forever, from their association with death. Now, — just then, Heavenly love turned the gloomiest Dark Friday in the annals of human history into a very Good Friday. All that Christmas ever meant to the world is now wholly sanctified in Easter. Christ's promise that, He would build the Temple again in three days, has been fulfilled. Easter is the springtime of the soul and Crucifixion has more radiant beauty and deep meaning when we see it through the fragrant glory of the snow white lily. Easter symbolizes the Crucifixion, Burial and Resurrection of our True Leader. The event is packed with all the drama of human emotion, we can withstand. Hallelujah, it is Easter! Amen.

McCarthy
Promises
Nation's Poor
By DAVID NYHAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene
J. McCarthy, D-Minn., has proposed a guaranteed minimum income and a federally subsidized health insurance program to raise the standard of living of the nation's poor.

The United States "has passed the point of no return with reference to domestic problems," the Democratic presidential candidate said Thursday night in a speech before more than 1,800 cheering students at Boston University.

The Minnesota senator described the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders as "the most significant political document I think to be published in this country in this century."

McCarthy told the audience his strong showing in the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries meant that "public judgment has been passed" on the Vietnam war, which he called
"not morally justifiable."

At a news conference after his arrival in Boston from Lincoln, Nebr., McCarthy said the call-up of reserves earlier Thursday
"fits into the same pattern of
they sought negotiations," he said.

McCarthy's visit kicked off his campaign for the Massachusetts presidential primary April 30, one of which he is expected to win since his is the only name on the Democratic ballot.

However, workers for Sen.
Robert F. Kennedy have yet to launch a write-in campaign.

But that figurative mule could face what amounts to a Nixon steamroller.

The Rockefeller partisans are counting on several things—none of which is in evidence yet —to bolster their cause.

First, they believe Republican leaders who tended toward Nixon on will have second thoughts now that Johnson has stepped out of the competition.

That leads to the prospect of a
GOP race against New York
Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, undeclared Vice President Hubert H.
Humphrey, or Minnesota Sen.
Eugene J. McCarthy.

Rockefeller men feel the changes in the Democratic picture warrant a change in the Republican outlook. But there was no open rush to Rockefeller after Johnson stepped aside.

Morton said his group also is looking toward the Republican governors as a party constituency. Its predecessors have looked there before and found few governors ready to declare themselves for Rockefeller—or anybody else.

The Kentucky senator said he expects 19 or 20 of the 26 Repu-lican governors will wind up in the Rockefeller camp.

Won by One Vote
The presidential election of 1876 was not decided until 48 hours before the inauguration when the electoral commission awarded Rutherford B.
Hayes the presidency by a margin of one electoral vote over Samuel J. Tilden.

S. Vietnam Troops Did Well in Fight

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's avowed hope for a gradual shift of the major war effort from U.S. to South Vietnamese forces is based on an assessment that they stood up well under the Viet Cong winter offensive.

Pentagon sources said the assessment was made both by Gen. William C. Westmoreland and by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, who will succeed Westmoreland as U.S. Commander in Vietnam by July 2.

The views of both generals were made known to President Johnson and his top advisers in personal reports at the White House during the past few weeks.

The sources said Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford was drawing on this military judgment in telling newsmen Thursday of a policy decision to turn over gradually the major effort to the South Vietnamese.

Clifford stressed that it is a long-range plan which he said will require "a period of testing to ascertain whether such a system will work."

Although Clifford appeared to be referring to a new decision, Pentagon sources said the new defense secretary had in mind the same decision about which Westmoreland spoke publicly when he was in Washington last November.

The record is replete with U.S. expressions of confidence and hope that the South Vietnamese forces would shape up to the task of shouldering the biggest part of the job of turning back enemy military efforts to overwhelm the country.

But in the past, the Vietnamese forces have fallen short of most expectations.

CONG TROOPS from Page One awarded a Silver Star on the spot.

The heavy fighting broke a week-long lull in the Vietnam war and was the first major action reported in Operation Complete Victory, the biggest allied campaign of the war in which 100,000 troops are sweeping through 11 provinces around Saigon.

A battalion of 25th Division infantrymen on a reconnaissance mission had taken up defensive positions for the night in a clearing of a heavily wooded area.

Listening posts detected a heavy movement on the west side of the perimeter about 2:40 a.m. shortly after, waves of Viet Cong threw themselves at the camp.

The fighting lasted until 7:30 a.m. Shortly after the Viet Cong broke contact, tanks and armored personnel carriers reinforced the infantrymen and began sweeping the battlefield.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy troops were wearing new uniforms, some of them black and some of them green. He said their weapons also were new or in good condition, indicating the troops were recent replacements who had come down the Ho Chi Minh Trail from North Vietnam through Laos and Cambodia.

Barber, Sikes in Running

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana, Ark., and R. H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., may have to improve on their first round scores today if they are to survive the 36-hole cut in the 32nd Masters Golf Tournament.

Both Barber and Sikes had 75s Thursday. Barber shot 39-36 while Sikes had 38-37. Both were tied with several others for 38th place.

Billy Casper shot a four-under-par 68 Thursday to grab the first-round lead.

Snatching Army Payroll Really Hurts

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

Associated Press Writer

DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP) —

Snatching an Army payroll is hardly the way for a sergeant to win a medal — unless the payroll belongs to the enemy.

Slow-spoken Platoon Sgt. Lawrence Nine wasn't thinking about anything of the sort when he cut down a Viet Cong with a burst from his M16.

It was near the end of a hard day's slogging beneath a sweltering Mekong Delta sun. The 33-year-old marksman from Columbia, S.C., was content with bagging one of the elusive Viet Cong and capturing his companion.

"I went up to make sure he was dead and pick up his weapon," Nine says. "Then all this money fell out and I yelled 'We got a paymaster.' We bundled it back up and got out."

When Nine brought the money back to battalion headquarters the staff in the squad tent erupted like college boys after winning the big game. There were shouts and corny jokes and everybody gathered around the battered olive-drab field table where the money was dumped — neat bundles of notes adding up to 358,000 piasters, equivalent to more than $3,000.

Lt. Col. William T. Leggett, Rocky Mount, N.C., commander of the 2nd Battalion, 39th Infantry, 9th Division, happily jumped the radio network to brigade with the good news. The money would be heading back along with the prisoner and a stack of documents as soon as a helicopter arrived.

By nightfall the prisoner was being questioned and the brigade commander, Col. Henry Emerson of Milford, Pa., who won the name "The Gunfighter" during a previous tour in Vietnam, was cooking up an evening's skulduggery.

"Get 'em where it hurts," chortled the lanky, ex-airborne soldier who takes as much pleasure in outsmarting the Viet Cong as he does in outfighting them.

The documents showed the money was the payroll of the 514th Viet Cong main-force battalion, an outfit Emerson's men had been working on for weeks.

Before midnight, Emerson had a psychological warfare plane lazily circling above the Viet Cong's marshy hideouts.

"You're not going to get your pay this month," a Vietnamese voice boomed from the plane's powerful loud-speaker. "We killed your paymaster this afternoon."

Next day leaflets were prepared to spread the message and spread discontent.

"That's the kind of operation I like," beamed Emerson. "Something hard. Something those guys can understand."

Nine's commander put him in for a medal.

Thursday that he would be "flattered and honored" to accept an appointment to the Rockefeller for President Committee.

The group is trying to obtain the Republican presidential nomination for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a brother to the Arkansas governor.

"This unexpected and unsolicited support for Rockefeller for president touches me deeply and I feel will be of inestimable value to me as a favorite son candidate from the great state of Arkansas," Rockefeller told Morton in a telegram.

WR to Weigh Reaction to Rights Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller indicated Thursday he would weigh the reaction of Congress and President Johnson to the recent Civil Rights bill before drafting any legislation to deal with racial tension in the state.

Rockefeller said he had nothing in mind at this time to offer next month's special session concerning the racial situation.

The governor said he would have to study existing material before deciding how to tailor to the fair housing provisions of the Civil Rights bill to fit Arkansas.

"I don't think the people of Arkansas are jumping up and down for an open housing bill," Rockefeller said. He said, however, that he felt the state would comply with the fair housing provision.

Rockefeller began encouraging department heads to hire more Negroes for state jobs following the assassination last week of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Rockefeller said Thursday he would discuss the situation further next Tuesday at a meeting with employees of the Employment Security Division, Merit System Council and the state personnel director.

Negro leaders from throughout the state and the governor's Council on Human Resources are scheduled to meet Thursday and offer their recommendations to the governor.

Rockefeller said some people had told him he over-reacted in the wake of the assassination of King.

"I will continue to stand for law and order but I also will do all I can to reduce a situation we've all known about but chose to ignore because it was distasteful," Rockefeller said.

The governor said State Police Director Ralph Scott told him he had heard more rumors in the state during the past week than in his 30 years of law enforcement experience. Rockefeller warned newsmen about heading the rumors.

Rockefeller also said he had

4. Clayton Webb Jr., 27, a meat packing plant employee, went out Friday in his bedroom slippers to get some beer. Several hours later police found him shot to death in a South Side alley. His mother said, "Clayton was never in trouble. He drank, but he was all right. I don't know what happened to the child." Neither do police.

5. Willie McMillin, 21, had been in Chicago a year since he left his home in Dundee, Miss. He worked in a meat packing company. "Two weeks ago he got a better job at a steel mill in Gary," his cousin said. "He was on top of the world." McMillin was found dead Friday of smoke inhalation in a looted, destroyed grocery store on the West Side. "He couldn't have been a looter," his cousin said. "He just got his first paycheck from the steel mill that day."

6. Penowel Holloway, 16, was shot and killed by police while he was looting a store on the West Side. He was a sophomore at Marshall High School.

7. Cyrus Hatfield, 32, left McClain, Miss., in 1955. He missed Mississippi and bought a home in McClain where his wife and five children lived, waiting for him to return. Hatfield's body was found in the ruins of women's apparel shop which had been looted and set on fire. A bullet was in his chest.

8. John Sandifer, 24, bled to death in a gutter on Roosevelt Road, apparently from a huge gash in his knee. Police said he may have been a looter who cut himself on broken windows in one of the stores which had been looted. No one claimed his body at the morgue.

9. Paul Evans, 22, was shot to death Friday inside a burned out store on the West Side, police were investigating his death.

10. Everett Austin, 11 months, found burned to death in his crib in a third floor apartment on the West Side. The fire was apparently deliberate. Mrs. Austin was playing in a nearby apartment. "There was no way I could get to my baby," she said.

11. Mrs. Barbara Walker, 25, who was shot and killed by her brother, Oscar King, 27, while they were driving on the Kennedy Expressway. Cook County Coroner Andrew J. Tomasi attributed Mrs. Walker's death to the rioting because he said her brother had been worked into a frenzy by the disturbances.

not planned any extra safety precautions for the April 20 visit to Little Rock by former Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

"I think we could do without this Wallace confusion before or after the King tragedy," Rockefeller said.

Wallace is attempting to get on the November ballot as a third party presidential candidate.

King Slaying Suspect Pickup Order Reversed

By GAYLORD SHAW

Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) —

The FBI issued, then withdrew, a pickup order for Eric Starvo Galt, a Birmingham, Ala., white man as the widespread investigation of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., entered its second week.

Federal agents refused to say why they were seeking Galt.

The bulletin distributed on the statewide police teletype network in Florida said Galt was driving a white Mustang. Witnesses in Memphis told investigators earlier they saw a man in a white Mustang drive away from the rooming house from which King was shot last Thursday night.

At about the same time the pickup order was sent in Florida, federal agents in Atlanta impounded a white Mustang that had been parked since last Friday at a public housing project near the Georgia state Capitol.

The message, withdrawn with the explanation that it was released by mistake, described Galt as a white male, 36 years old, about 5-foot-11 and 175 pounds with blue eyes and brown hair.

This roughly matched the description circulated by federal authorities the night of King's slaying.

Special Agent John Hanlong of the Miami FBI office, who withdrew the pickup order about four hours after it was issued, said, "I cannot comment," when asked for further details.

The Florida teletype message said Galt was last seen driving a white 1966 Mustang hardtop, Alabama license 1-38993, Birmingham police said this tag had been issued to Eric S. Galt, 2608 Highland Ave., Birmingham.

In Atlanta, the residents who first told police about the abandoned white Mustang said the car bore the same Alabama license as given out by the FBI and bore two stickers which said "Tourista." Earlier reports indicated the investigation had spread to Mexico.

"The FBI was all over the place," before the car was impounded, an Atlanta witness said. He said the vehicle was towed away between 5:15 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Thursday—about the time the Florida teletype message was sent.

Witnesses in Memphis who reported seeing a white Mustang pull away from the rooming house said the car had a red and white license plate. Alabama tags are red and white.

The Birmingham address given for Galt is a large white two-story house in what once was an elite residential area. A red neon sign flashes the word "rooms," but a knock on the door was unanswered.

A Birmingham newspaper, the Post-Herald, said residents of the rooming house confirmed they had been questioned by the FBI. It added the residents reported they had not seen Galt for about three months and could not recall what type car he owned.

57 Printing Contracts Awarded

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fifty-seven contracts were awarded Thursday by the state Printing Committee, leaving four contracts yet to be awarded.

The Committee awarded five contracts last week but State Auditor Jimmie Jones said he was holding up some requisitions for typewriter ribbon and carbon paper under Contract 63. He said he was waiting on a ruling from Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell on whether the contract ordered all typewriter ribbon and carbon paper.

Jones said the wording of the contract might be interpreted to mean that certain types of productions would be purchased under Contract 40.

Contract 40, the largest of the state printing contracts, includes blank stationery and office supplies. It was won by Parkin Printing and Stationery Co.

John L. Sullivan's last bare-knuckle championship bout was in 1889. He defeated Jake Kilrain in the 75th round.

Cemeteries Key to Genealogical Projects

Hempstead County Extension Homemaker Council leaders make plans for cooperating with State E. H. Genealogical Project. Mrs. A. B. King, County Project Chairman, is shown directing club leadership in making plans for securing genealogical information from all cemeteries in Hempstead County.

The Extension Homemaker Council in making this compilation will record the early history of Arkansas for a permanent record and assist people in locating burial plots of relatives. It will also serve as a reference for those looking for "family tree" data.

Dr. John L. Ferguson, State Historian, Arkansas History Commission, stated that this would be invaluable to their department as they receive numerous calls every week for this type information.

Shover Springs Extension Homemaker Club members are shown securing names, birth and death dates from markers in the Shover Springs Cemetery. In front center are Mrs. Mullins and Mrs. King. Shover Springs members assisting are Mrs. Poindexter, Patricia East, Mrs. Dillard, Mrs. Mangum, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. East and Mrs. Dillard.

Extension Homemaker Clubs over the county will be visiting cemeteries during April and May to get this information.

Anyone having helpful information about locating cemeteries in county area should write Mrs. A. B. King, Rt. 1, Hope, Arkansas.

Mrs. Wilton Mullins, County Extension Homemaker President, and Mrs. A. B. King, County Cemetery Project Chairman, identify marker. This will become a part of a county listing of all markers. The county listing will be added to a state compilation and information made available to the public.

Shover Springs Extension Homemaker members receive instructions from Mrs. A. B. King for recording information from cemetery markers. Pictured left to right are Mrs. Nell Johnson, Mrs. Bob Dillard, Mrs. Clifton East, Mrs. Gene Dillard, Mrs. Homer Poindexter, Mrs. Floyd Mangum, Patricia East, Mrs. Wilton Mullins and Mrs. King.

Mrs. King says many families have members who are interested in their "family tree". They find themselves looking through old family Bibles, talking to the older family members, and sometimes trying to get information from cemetery markers. Much interest has been shown by Hempstead County Residents.

B. W. Edwards tells this one about police headquarters — in some other city, not Hope: The telephone rang and the voice said: "There's a dead man on my front porch. Will you come and get him?" "Where do you live?" asked the desk sergeant. "On Carruthers street," said the voice. "How do you spell 'Carruthers'?" "C-a-r-r-u-t-h-e-r-s," began the voice. "C-a-r — Skip it, chief, I'll just drag him over to Adams street."

In an editorial April 10 the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune discussed the difference between the war-like Stokely Carmichael and that man of peace, the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and quoted Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP.

"Millions of Negroes in this country are opposed to violence."

"Indeed they are," continues the Florida editor. "The trouble is that their voices are rarely raised. The nation hears, instead, the insurrectionist cries of Stokely Carmichael that Negroes must arm themselves and prepare for war."

And then comes the Tampa Tribune's conclusion, which paragraph is the prime reason for this column's reprint:

"The Negro has made the greatest progress toward equality, in a society where he is outnumbered 9 to 1, by the peaceful processes of law. If he permits that system of law to be destroyed by a violent few, he will find his hope for the future buried in the fire-bomb's ashes."

Feild Calls for Dog Ban Hearings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Talbot Feild Jr. of Hope asked the Arkansas Legislative Council Thursday to study a state Game and Fish Commission regulation that bans free-running dogs from April 1 to July 31 except in certain areas. Feild said he wanted the "basis, justification and constitutionality" of the regulation studied.

He said the restriction on the rights of fox hunters was "arbitrary, capricious and discriminatory." He also said fox hunters in some areas would enjoy privileges that fox hunters in other areas could not because of the regulation.

That Beer Was for Real

COVENTRY, England (AP) — The role calls for a henpecked husband who drowns his woes in beer, and producer Roger Redfern ruled out cold tea as a substitute for the real thing.

So 35-year-old actor Peter Needham guzzles seven pints of brew at each performance of "Saturday Night at the Crown." On Saturday, when there is a matinee also, he has to put away 14 pints. "I drink wine myself," said Needham. "All those pints of beer made me tipsy on stage, but it was authentic, I suppose."

Site Hassle Signals Difficulties Expected in Peace Negotiations

AP News Digest

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say the lengthening hassle between Washington and Hanoi over a site for preliminary talks signals the kind of difficulties expected when and if peace negotiations get under way.

They noted it has been more than a week since the opposing sides publicly declared their readiness for contacts. And on the record, the maneuvering to date has involved only initial talks—rather than negotiations—aimed only at setting the stage for an actual peace conference.

The White House objected to Warsaw, which the North Vietnamese proposed Thursday, on the ground the capital of Communist Poland would not provide a neutral, fair setting.

The North Vietnamese have so far refused to accept U.S. site suggestions that are known to include Geneva, Switzerland; Rangoon, Burma; Vientiane, Laos; New Delhi, India; Jakarta, Indonesia; Vienna, Austria; Berne, Switzerland, and Bonn, West Germany.

The United States also objected to Hanoi's choice of Phnom Penh, Cambodia, on grounds Washington no longer has diplomatic relations with the neutral nation, a situation raising communications and logistic problems.

Presidential press secretary George Christian said the U.S. government first learned of North Vietnam's proposal to meet at Warsaw from reading the Soviet news agency Tass—and only later received the Hanoi message through official diplomatic channels.

The United States, he added, has not yet received a Hanoi response to U.S. proposals for sites in neutral countries. Other sources said the North Vietnamese, before their Warsaw proposition, had previously indicated they prefer an Asian locale and had named Rangoon—also deemed acceptable by Washington.

While President Johnson reportedly has not ruled out sending peace envoy W. Averell Harriman to Warsaw or Phnom Penh if the North Vietnamese insist, he is said to be pressing hard for selection of a neutral nation where both sides have diplomatic accreditation and facilities exist for rapid, private communications back to Washington.

After five hours of close-quarter fighting in War Zone C 49 miles northwest of Saigon, Vietnamese and Viet Cong fled, leaving 128 of their dead and more than 50 weapons on the battlefield.

All of the enemy bodies were killed inside or on the fringes of the American perimeter. AP photographer Al Chang reported from the battlefield that more bodies were probably farther out, victims of the massive air and artillery strikes.

Sixteen U.S. troops were killed and 47 wounded. Chang said the fighting was at such close range that at one point the 25th Division Infantrymen fixed their bayonets as their ammunition ran low. They didn't have to use them.

Two Americans were found dead inside their bunker. Around them were the bodies of eight Viet Cong, gunned down by the two Americans before they were killed.

LBJ, South Korean Head Plan Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson will meet Wednesday in Honolulu with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea.

The announcement said Johnson would leave for Hawaii from his Texas ranch where he will spend the Easter Weekend. The meeting with Park had been planned for last weekend, when Johnson was scheduled to fly to Honolulu to meet also with his advisers from Vietnam.

But that trip was canceled after violence erupted in the nation's capital and other U.S. cities following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Instead, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, and Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to South Vietnam, flew to Washington for conferences.

Showers But No Big Change in Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattered showers are forecast for Arkansas over the weekend but no major change in temperatures is expected.

Brisk southerly winds will bring Gulf moisture back to the state Saturday and a weak low pressure trough moving into the area will trigger scattered showers and thundershowers activity.

Most of the shower activity is expected to be confined to afternoons and evenings. No great change in temperatures is expected through Saturday with only a few degrees drop from passes through the state.

High temperatures Thursday ranged from 85 at Gilbert to 70 at Brinkley. Overnight lows ranged from 56 at Texarkana and Newport to 40 at Gilbert.

There was no rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Race Riots Damage in the Millions

Insurers put preliminary estimates of riot damage in Chicago at $10 million, in Baltimore at between $8 million and $10 million. Washington, D.C., officials estimate building damage alone at $13.3 million.

The number of homeless in Chicago is estimated at upward of 500. In Newark the figure is set at 600 and in the nation's capital a guess on the homeless is placed at between 1,200 and 1,400.

These were some of the preliminary figures available today as city officials, insurance adjusters and welfare workers began the months-long job of assembling a statistical picture of riot damage.

An Associated Press survey showed the pattern and extent of damage during the week-long

Says Removal of Sales Tax Exemptions Would Mean Millions to State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Removal of all exemptions on the sales and use taxes would net Arkansas $40 to $50 million annually according to state Revenue Commissioner B. Bryan Larey.

Larey says "strong lobbies in the legislature" were responsible for the exemptions. The sales and use taxes bring the state about $90 million annually at the present time.

He said he did not know if any of the exemptions would be removed but said he expects the legislature to examine the idea. Larey said removal of the exemptions could eliminate any need for a tax increase.

L. A. Henderson, head of the incorporation income tax division, said bankers don't pay sales taxes but welfare recipients do. He said all banks are exempt under state law because the federal government won't let the state collect sales

Most of Those Killed in Riots Were Looters or Perished in Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Authorities say 19 of the 39 persons killed in the post-assassination violence either were shot while they were looting or died as a result of fires.

All but five of the 39 were Negroes. Four of the victims were females, 15 of the dead were 21 years of age or under including one 11-month-old baby who burned to death in his crib in Chicago.

Of the total, 25 persons died from gunshot wounds, 10 died as a result of fire and 4 died from other causes, according to an Associated Press survey.

Eleven persons died in Chicago, 7 in Washington, 6 each in Baltimore and Kansas City, 2 each in Cincinnati and the Detroit area and 1 each in Memphis, Minneapolis, Tallahassee, Trenton and Jacksonville.

Police gunfire accounted for 11 of the gunshot victims, nine were shot by unknown persons and five were shot by private citizens. No deaths were specifically attributed to National Guard action. Chicago authorities gave the following case-by-case breakdown on the 11 deaths there. All the victims were Negroes:

1. Curtis Jetro, 31, a die-caster, lived in a housing project with his wife, two sisters, a brother and a sister-in-law. Went out on his 12th floor balcony to observe a disturbance Saturday. Found dead of a bullet wound which police said was a stray bullet.

2. Marvin Carter, 24, quit a janitor's job after arguing with his boss. Was to have started a job in a window sash company Monday. Married with three children. Left home Friday around 5 p.m. four hours later police saw some men carrying merchandise from the rear of a South Side store. They fired and Carter fell dead in alleyway.

3. Robert T. Dorsey, 31, a truck driver. He and his wife, who had no children, were walking home Friday when shots rang out on the West Side. Dorsey pushed his wife to the ground, then fell, moaning.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. foot soldiers, artillery and dive bombers repulsed 400 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who stormed an American bivouac today and drove to within a few feet of the GI's foxholes.
